FACULTY

HELP MAKE THE LIVING BETTER

Developing the "whole student" is the main purpose of the devoted Mount de Sales faculty. While they consider education the primary purpose of the school, the faculty realizes the dual importance of curricular and co-curricular interests. They foster academics to develop the intellectual side of the student, sports to develop the physical side of the student, and club activities to develop the social side of the student. Their concern with the total development of persons as unique individuals continues to inspire many young men and women. The faculty of Mount de Sales justifies the reason for its existence: "getting it together".

Sister Fidelis, our new principal, leads the students to new horizons.

Vice-principal Father Bede is empathic to both students and faculty.

SENIORS—A NEW FOREVER

The Seniors . . . a kaleidoscope of individuals bonded by four years of common remembrance into one unit, reaching eagerly for their new tomorrow even while holding fast to the security of yesterday. Together, they possess memories of agonizing downs and intoxicating victories. The late term paper, the forgotten French test, the book critique that isn't yet finished—these are memories which will never be recalled without an accompanying case of nerves. The "A" in Algebra, the pepperoni pizza at Shakey's after a 49-0 football victory, the day the chemistry experiment worked—these are memories from which the freshness will never fade. Within their minds lies the ability to recall a smile, a laugh, a tear. Yet there is a great expectancy within the mind of each member of the Senior Class, a great need for independence, and a great urge to put into practice the knowledge which they have gradually acquired during their high school years. They have obtained the basic skills needed. They are getting on with a new forever.

UNDERCLASS

JUNIORS—WORKING

The Juniors . . . a bubbling body of enthusiasm nearing the end of their goal. Only one more year until they take their place as leaders of the student body. This is a year of critical decisions, both academic and social, for the Junior Class. College boards, the Junior-Senior prom, the Homecoming bonfire—these are Junior responsibilities met with good humor and exuberant spirit. Under the guidance of dedicated teachers, they are acquiring the experience that will be an essential to their future life. There were disappointments in the past, and there will be more in the future. Yet these are outweighed by the victories, the personal satisfaction, and self-confidence that has been obtained. Behind them are three years of living and learning. Before them stretches a future of opportunities and challenges to be met and worked out in harmony.

SOPHOMORES— LIFE CAN BE SO MUCH FUN

A class teetering between the recklessness of early adolescence and the comparative maturity of the teens, the Sophomores await their chance at school leadership while giving greatly of themselves as followers. Languages, geometry, history, gym, biology—all crowd together in mass confusion into days that seem too short to manage. Yet somehow, they do all that is necessary and manage even more. School dances, football games, class competitions—none of these could be complete without the special spirit of the Sophomores. Their past experience as Freshmen serves them well as they hunt snakes for biology and memorize the theorems for geometry. They have learned to remain calm under pressure, and to scream when experiencing its release. With the help of parents and teachers, they will grasp life's meaning for they are on the brink of a great self-awakening.

FRESHMEN—ON WITH

A strange new world envelopes the Freshmen as they enter their first year of high school. Behind them lie well-ordered all day classrooms and recesses. Before them lies a world of changing mods and cycles, study halls and gym classes, Latin and algebra, "The Merchant of Venice" and first year languages, football games and sockhops—all are attacked with indomitable vigor, often, it seems against insurmountable odds. Therein lies the great strength of the Freshmen—the courage with which they make this new world their own. Their spirit integrates the newcomers with the other, older classes and fuses them with the student body. Proud, apprehensive, anticipating the future, savoring the present, and drawing upon the experiences of the past, the Freshmen, with the help of moderators and parents, are now in the throes of their greatest adventure of life as they get it on with a new beginning.

CLASS OFFICERS EXEMPLIFY LEADERSHIP

The Junior Class is led by President Mark Pierce, Vice-President Jim Andros, Treasurer Carl Waller, and Secretary Doreen Paulish (not pictured).

The twelve students chosen to lead the classes of '73, '74 and '75 were honored by their election. However, they soon discovered the burdens of being class officers. With hard work, dedication, and capability they molded their respective classes into a united group of individuals.

The Freshmen officers were faced with the greatest tasks, for they had to acquaint themselves with a new environment and new classmates before assuming added responsibilities.

More relaxed in the academic atmosphere, the Sophomores eagerly planned and conducted spirit weeks and other "take offs" from Student Council.

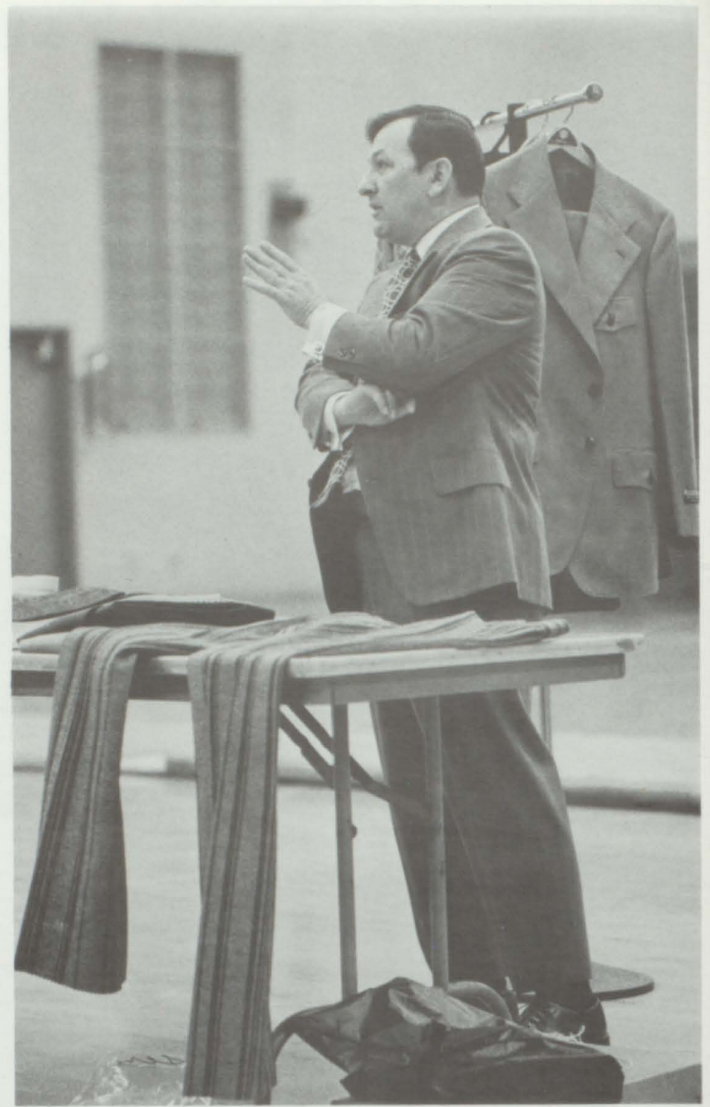

The Juniors, faced with the production of the Junior Senior Prom, raised money by sponsoring sock hops, bake sales, and a talent show. With hard work and determination they overcame all obstacles and resolved each difficulty.

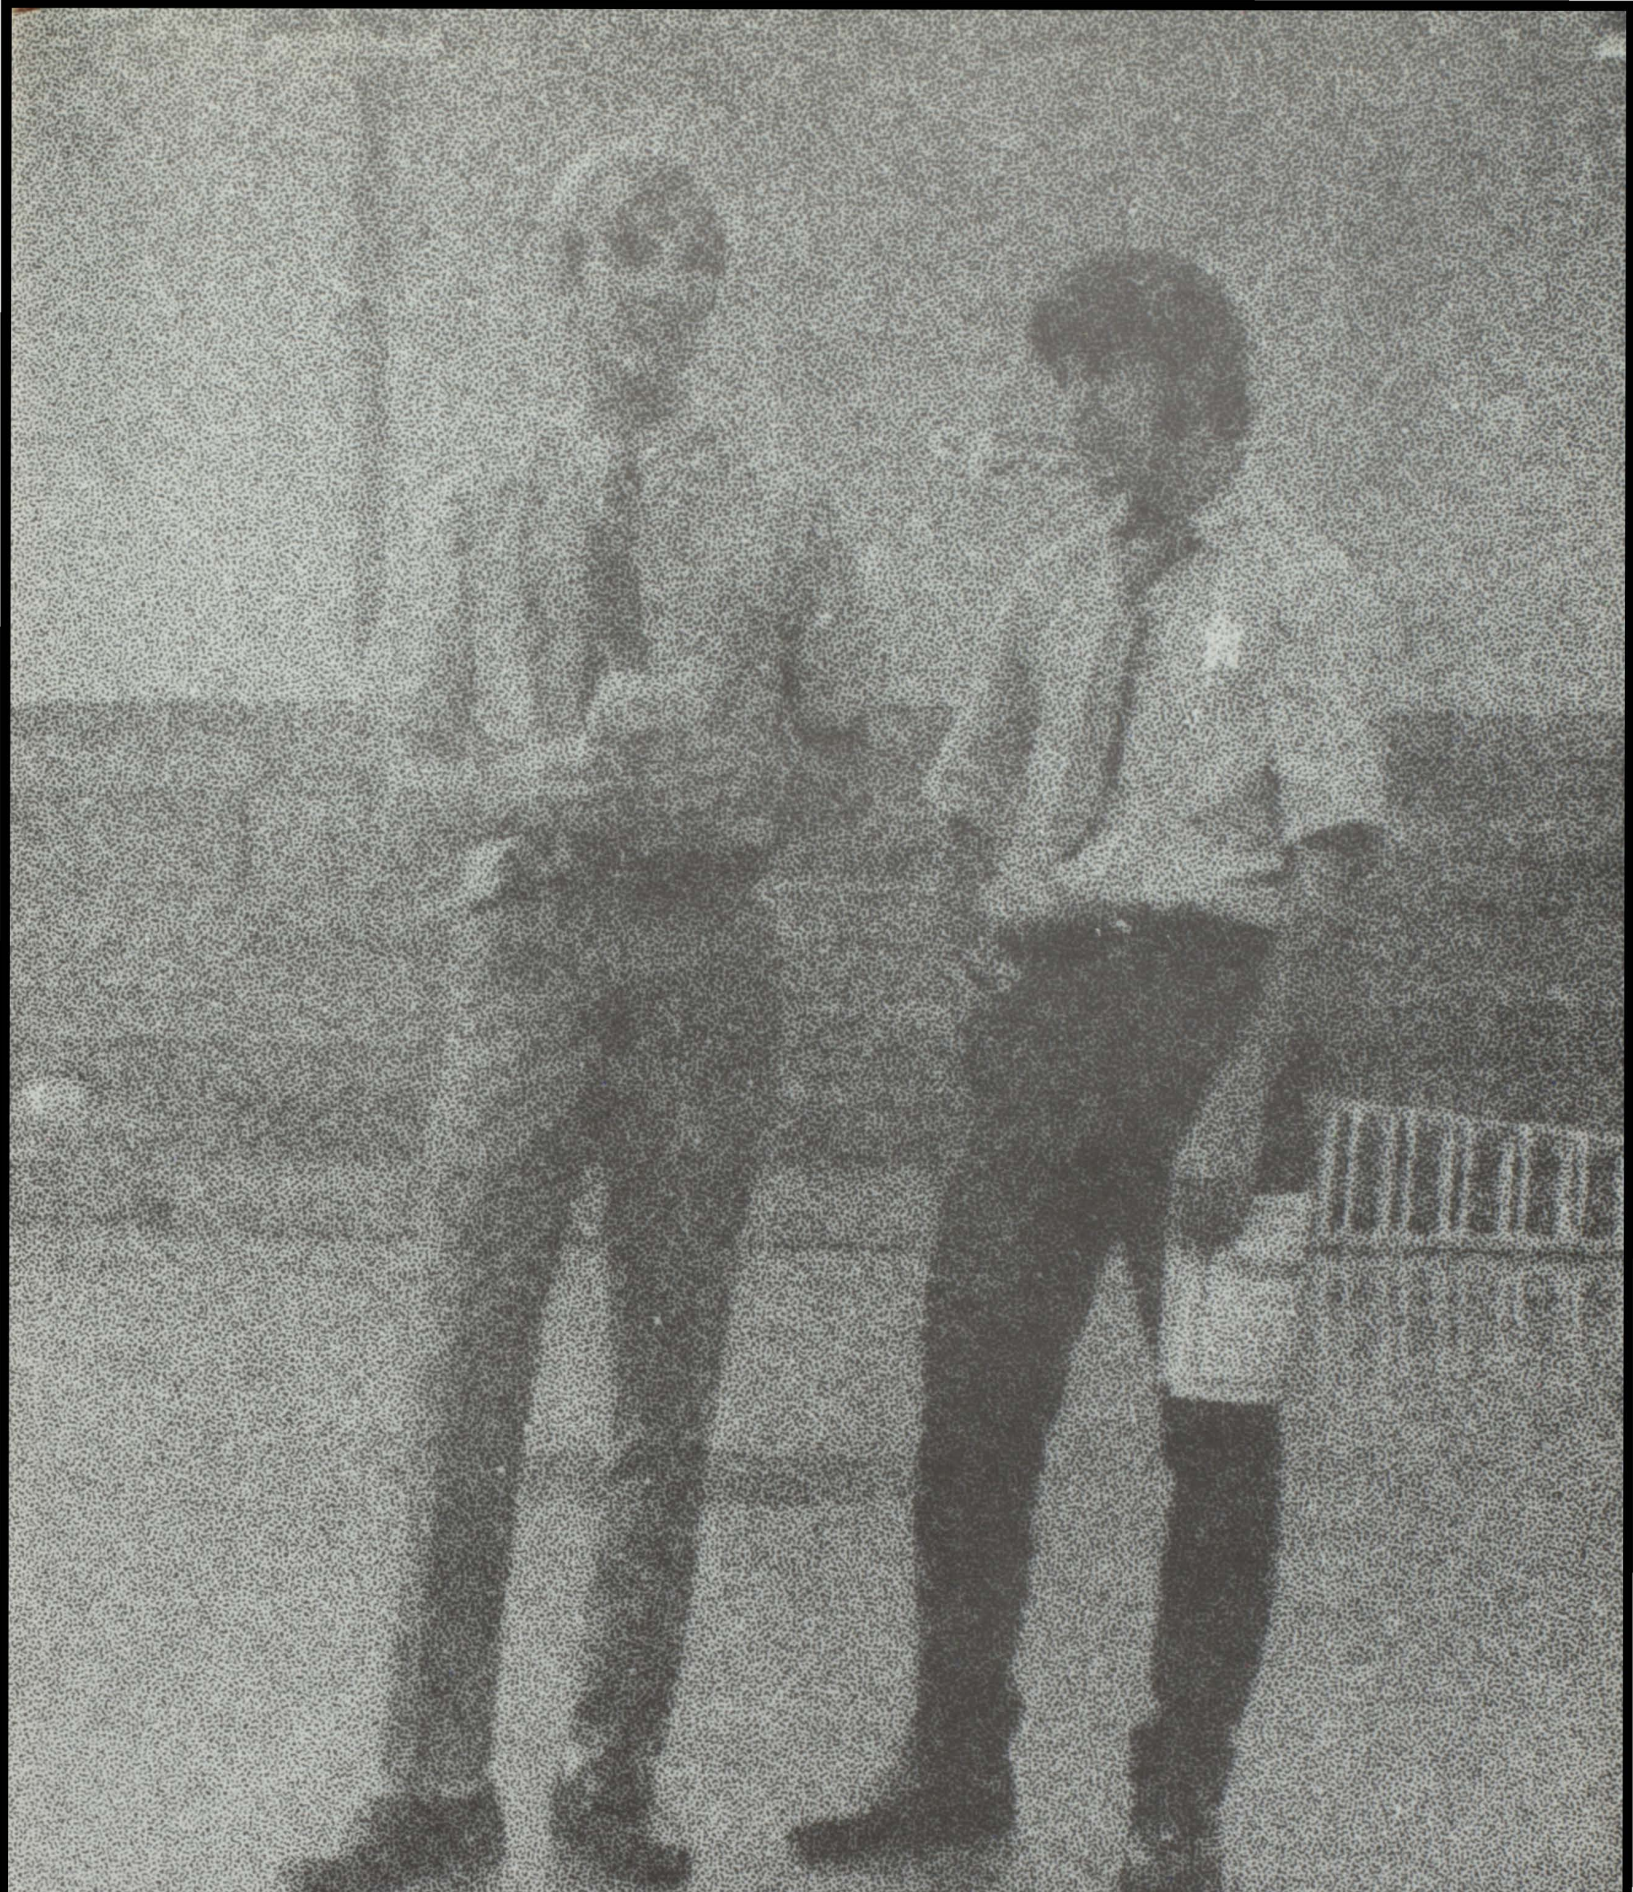

Sophomore President Sammy Deep, Vice-President John Andros, Secretary Jane Conner, and Treasurer Jo Michel display their usual teamwork as they care for the class aquarium.

ACTIVITIES

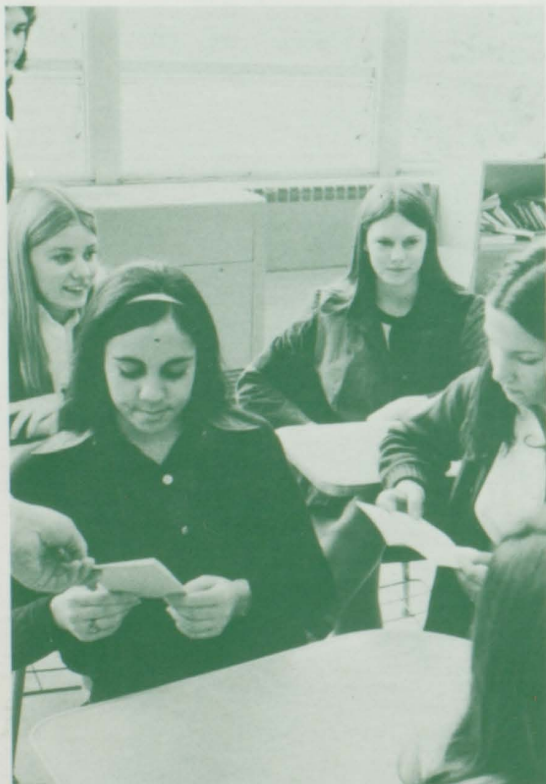

Student Council Officers: Vice-President Kit Thomas; Secretary Steve Kruger; Treasurer Joe Moran; and President Arthur Smith are pleased with plans for future activities.

The most active group on campus is the Student Council. Its members are the emissaries through which the students and administration communicate their wishes, hopes, and plans with one another. Because of their efforts, the operation of the school continues at a smooth running pace unhampered by recourse to subterfuge and with freedom from misunderstandings. Without the Student Council, the school would surely suffer.

STUDENTS REAP EDUCATIONAL SUCCESS

Academic achievement is a goal of Mount de Sales. Student excellence in various aspects of student life reflect standards of character, honesty, leadership, and service. With membership in the National Honor Society, recognition in the National Merit Program, selection as Outstanding Teenagers of America, and as a participant in the Program for Outstanding Negro Students—these Seniors enjoy well-earned achievement.

Thrilled after receiving notice for being National Merit Semi-finalists, Laura Gordy and Ria Ryne view their certificates.

Barbara Swint and Frank Russo received letters of commendation from National Merit for high scores.

THE SCHOOL SPEAKS OUT

The primary voice of any school is its newspaper, responsible for publishing and making known the opinions, ideas, and creations of the students. It is a demanding task to put out a school publication for it is volunteer work done under the pressure of deadlines. Pages and headlines must be planned, stories planned and written, and words counted—all done during leisure hours after homework and other responsibilities have been fulfilled. Many headaches attack staff members as publication days draw near. Stories are finished, re-written, and placed on pages, often as late as twelve or one at night. But all is forgotten—even the printer who forgot to print the newspaper—when the end result of so much work is distributed among the students.

Reporters Jim Jordan, Lauren Drinnon, Maggie O'Shaugnessey, Mary Jane Dickey, and Elaine Jenkins edit copy for the SALES SHEET.

A newsroom atmosphere prevails as the SALES SHEET staff undertakes to provide the school with a coming edition of the paper.

Editor Toni English and Advisor Sister Grace Marie emphasize the importance of deadlines.

Assistant editors enjoy a good scoop before sending it to press.

IT'S NOT AS EASY AS IT LOOKS

To capture in picture and in print the events of Mount de Sales is the purpose of the yearbook. Under the capable leadership of its editors, the Staff endeavors to depict all aspects of school life.

Hours of work precede publication of the final well-ordered book. The group must unify itself, then tackle the problems confronting it—the problems of selecting the moments to be remembered, of selecting a theme and cover, of developing layouts, and of meeting deadlines.

While striving to improve on the work of past years, this year's staff has come to realize the importance of time, effort, and dedication in making the publication of the SALESIAN a meaningful, successful achievement.

Co-editors Joan Dombrowski and John Michel seek advice from Sr. Mary concerning the addition of pages to a section.

The yearbook staff deserves to pose proudly following all the work and late hours they have put into the SALESIAN. Despite all the difficulties involved, success was won.

"WE'VE GOT SPIRIT"

Exemplifying the spirit of the student body, the varsity and subvarsity cheerleaders give of themselves throughout the year. Their enthusiasm is contagious as they lead cheers at the boisterous pep rallies and spur the Cavaliers on to victory. Behind their exuberance are hours of practice, beginning in the warm days of July with preparing for the opening football game in early September. These twenty girls may look back on this year with satisfaction in knowing their role was vital to the success of the Cavaliers.

HOMECOMING '71—A MEMORABLE NIGHT

It was a special night for the students and alumni of Mount de Sales—a night on which the spirit of oneness so flowed through the people gathered at Henderson Stadium—it was almost tangible. The roars of the crowd, the faces of countless students contributed to a unique feeling of togetherness, a feeling that would long be remembered.

The night saw the fulfillment of many dreams: the dreams of the football players who kept intact the record string of victories; the dream of the five girls nominated for queen who lived through the suspenseful moments; the dream of the Seniors, who wished to make this, their last homecoming as Mount de Sales students the most memorable event of their high school years.

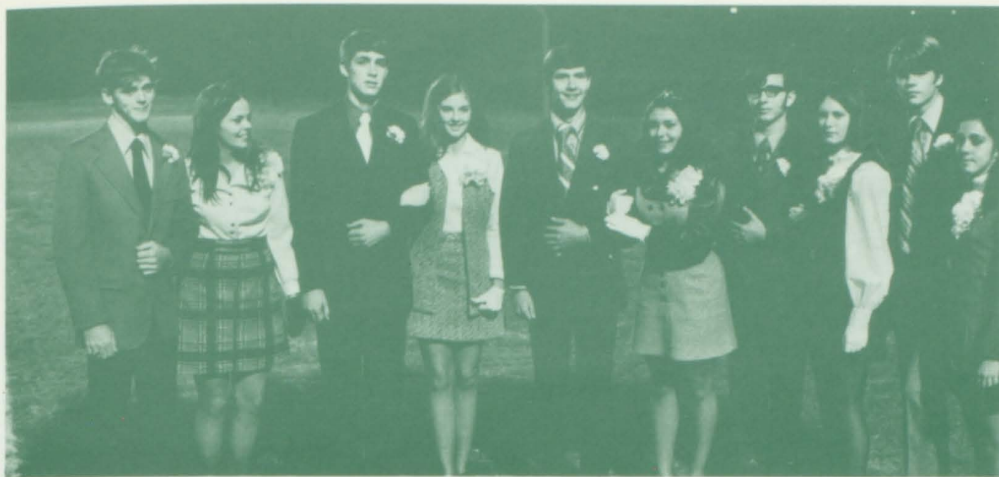

As the reality of this event faded into memory, the entire student body became aware of the advancing drift of time as it continued in its never-ending motion.

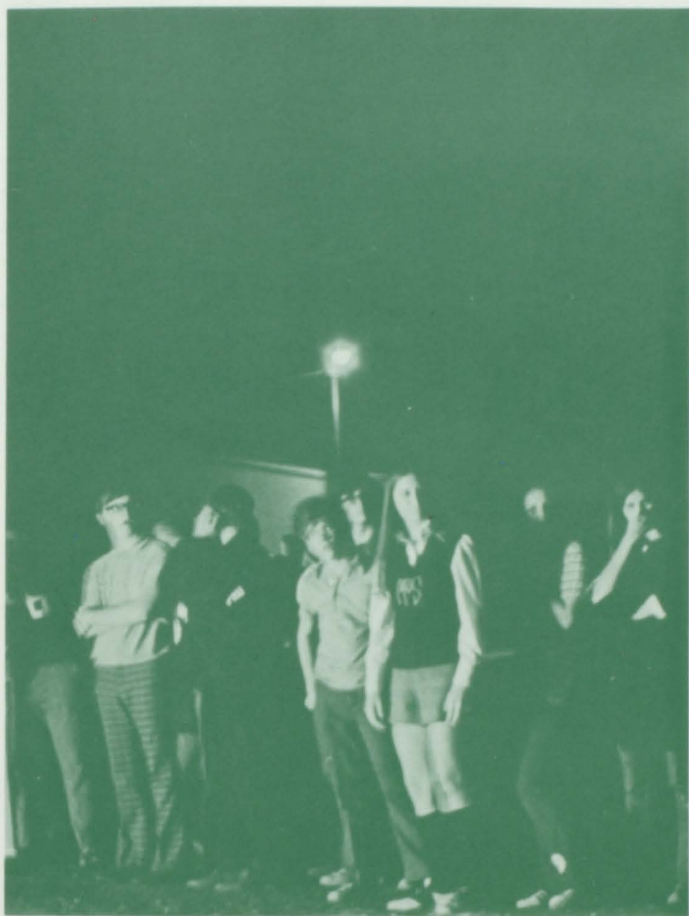

A roaring fire helps heat the spirits of de Sales students.

ATHLETICS

DE SALES SEIZES STATE "C" TITLE

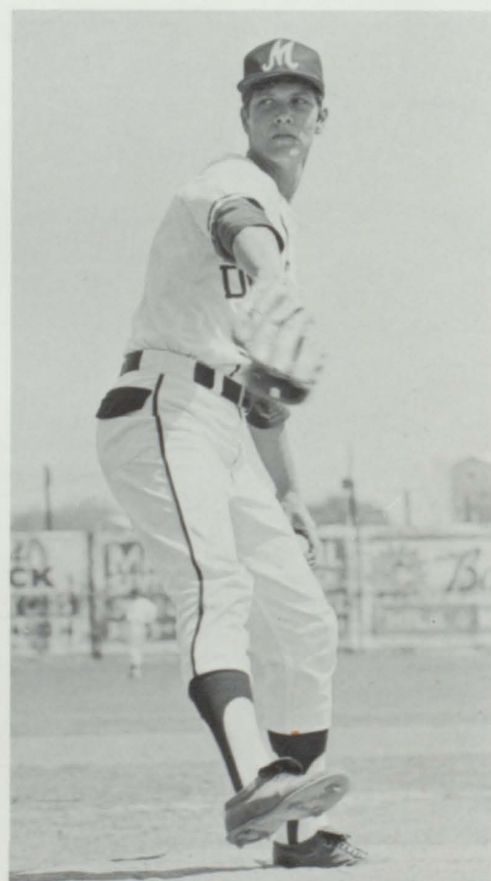

In past years Mount de Sales baseball teams have captured both the Class C Region and State titles. As the result of constant effort on the part of all involved, the 1971 team has repeated this performance. The experience and guidance of Head Coach Henderson and Coach Burdette were instrumental in overcoming obstacles which stood in the way of the players. This year's accomplishment has given reason for hope in the coming season.

Steve Knight and Harrell Grinstead arrive just in time to be too late.

With their previous season's triumph behind them, the Mount de Sales varsity team returned to the field for another season's superior performance. Because of the skill and effort put forth for a common cause, the team succeeded in overwhelming most of the opposition. This continued hard work and diligence led to M D S's acquiring of the eternal possession of the State "C" Championship title. In the fulfillment of this dream, the Cavaliers will go on to more challenging regional competition.

M.D.S. BASKETBALL SCORES

Mount de Sales moves in court ready to scramble for the ball.

Stalling for time, Viviani dribbles to the front of the court.

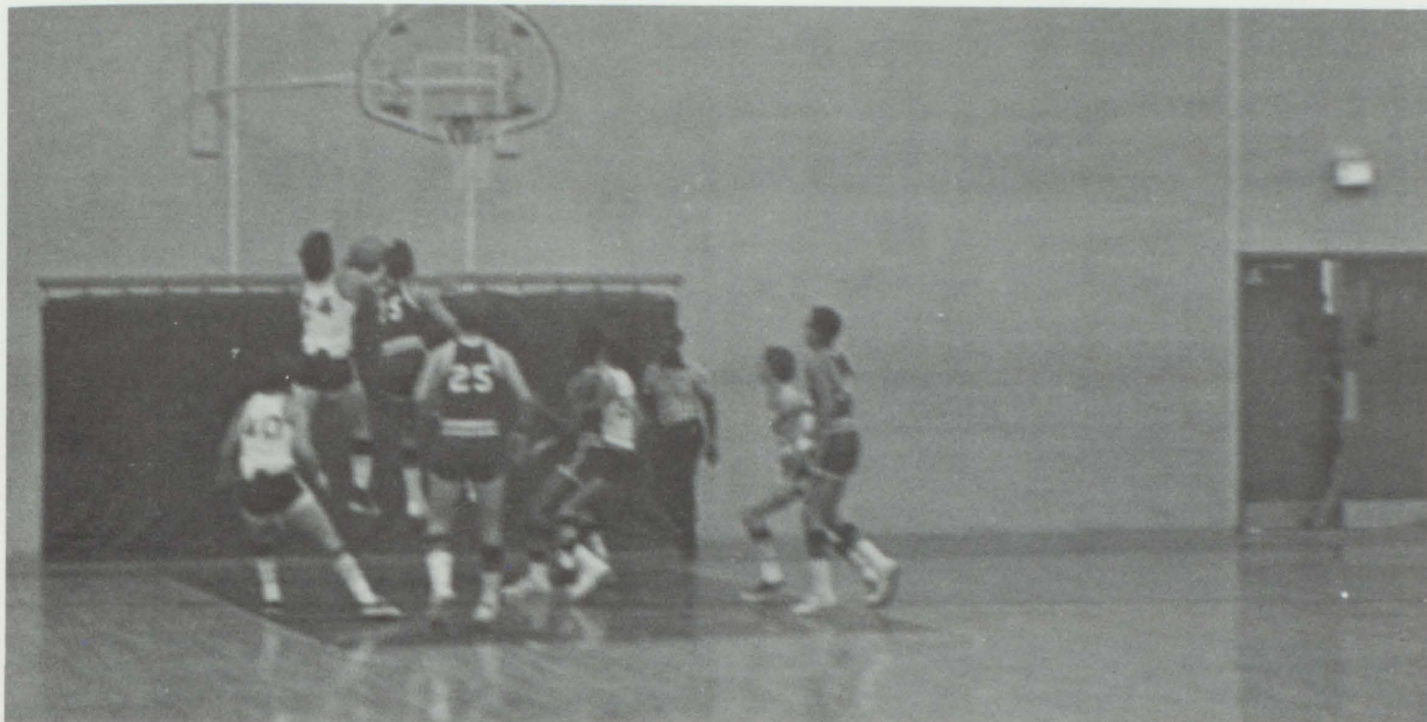

Out-maneuvering the big man, Chris Jaindl grabs the rebound.

The return of ten lettermen was the main factor in making this year's varsity squad the group it was. A great team effort combined with the fine coaching ability of Mike Burdette led the Cavaliers to an excellent season of basketball. Good shooting and rebounding were some of the key characteristics enabling the cagers to overcome their opponents on the courts.

In the short period of time allotted to them, this group of boys worked together under their Coach to unify themselves into a basketball team of superior quality. Overcoming hardships and sticking to the routine of practice improved the squad as could be seen in every appearance on the courts. This continued improvement ended in an excellent record for this team's endeavor.

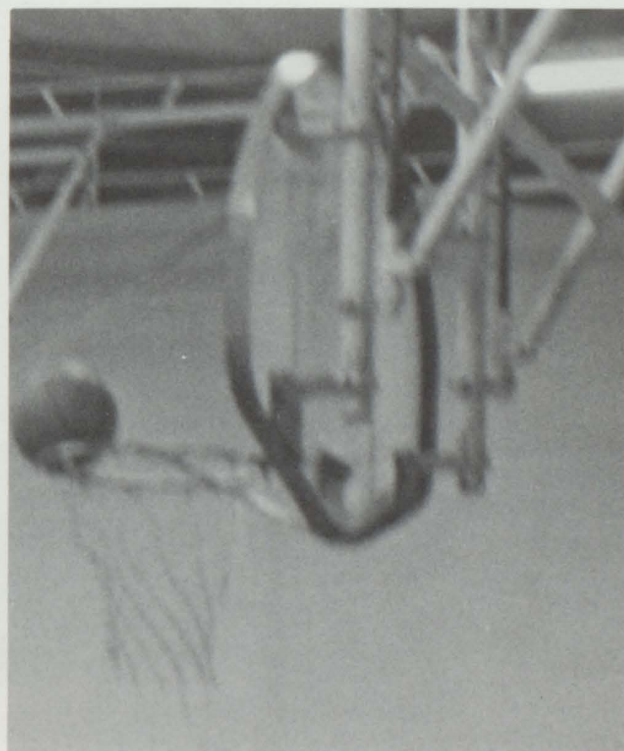

Through good times and bad times, the support of everyone involved kept the boys' outlook hopeful toward a victorious season. It is this type that exemplifies the sportsmanship of Mount de Sales as we know it at its best.

GIRLS COMPILE A WINNING SEASON

Nina tells Joanna that she's going the wrong way.

Joanna heaves the ball for an assist in two points.

With their premiere season a credit to them, the Lady Cavaliers again came to the courts with the potential to be winners.

With the guidance of Coach Mike Garvin, the girls displayed basketball wizardry that enabled them to overcome a majority of their opponents. Their agility, speed, and shooting ability made it clear that they should be number one.

With the support of cheerleaders, fans, and students, the team gained a momentum necessary to end this year with a winning streak. It is no wonder that we're proud of their sportsmanship.

Count on it. For a quarter of a century we have been building a reputation of quality and dependability, while building around the state of Georgia. Our personnel has an intimate understanding of structures, soil mechanics, foundations, construction, and money and banking. No wonder such a large percentage of our customers are repeat customers. Whether you require artistic remodeling as the Grand Opera House, multi-million dollar buildings as the Macon Coliseum or any variety of large or small jobs, demand quality and dependability. Specify us. Chris R. Sheridan & Co. Macon, Georgia.

YOU don't have to wait until you embark on your career to begin your savings program. Many students take a portion of their wages from part-time jobs or their allowance and consistently place it in a Home Federal savings account. With high interest as an extra incentive, savings can become a habit!
